

Source: Xinhua.

The Silk Road Economic Belt and 21st Century Maritime Silk Road - better known as One Belt, One Road - is China's ambitious effort to foster global trade and economic development, with 'Chinese characteristics'. Rather than a foreign aid program or merely a network of trading routes, at its heart One Belt, One Road (OBOR) is a debt-financed infrastructure development strategy. Stretching from Asia to Europe, it encompasses more than 60 countries, with official figures stating that there are 900 deals underway currently.

Expert panelists will share insights and important information on OBOR. Learn more about the many opportunities available to all size companies of varied interests.

The Hong Kong Association of Atlanta and The Carter Center's China Program proudly presents a luncheon forum not to be missed ...

"One Belt, One Road" Risks, Challenges, & Opportunities for U.S. Companies

Thursday, March 2, 2017

Program: 10:00 am - 1:30 pm

Registration: $50 per person, $500 (table of 10)

Venue: The Carter Center, Cyprus Room
445 Freedom Parkway Northeast, Atlanta, GA 30307

Register online: <http://goo.gl/LtgNST>

PANEL DISCUSSION: 10 am-12 noon

Opening Remarks: Ralph Chow, Regional Dir of Americas, Hong Kong TDC, NYC

Moderator: Dr. Yawei Liu, China Program Dir, Carter Center
Speaker:

Nicholas Kwan, Dir of Research, Hong Kong Trade Development Council, Hong Kong
Henry Yu, Chief Operating Officer, Asian Investors Consortium; President-HK Association of Atlanta
Minister Zhu Hong, Commercial Affairs, Embassy of People's Republic of China

LUNCH: 12 noon-1:30 pm

Keynote Speaker

John Rice, Vice Chairman, G.E.